Jones Saved $50.00

JONES owed one of our merchants fifty dollars. He gave said business man his check for the said amount. The business man forgot to give him credit and the next month presented Jones with a bill for $50.00. "I have paid that bill," said Jones, "and there is the check, endorsed by you." That settled it.

Smith Lost $50.00

SMITH owed one of our merchants fifty dollars, and paid it in cash. A month later he was presented with the same bill, and though he was certain he had paid it, he had no proofs and paid it again. Be like Jones and pay your bills by checks on our bank, and you will never have to pay a bill twice.

A GREETING AND SUMMONS TO KANSAS SUFFRAGISTS.

Call to the Thirtieth Convention of the Kansas Equal Suffrage Association, to be held in Lawrence, May 19 and 20, 1913.

We hereby send out across this great state, east and west, north and south, a call to you, the men and women who have helped to make Kansas a true republic, to meet with us in Convention.

This is the first convention since the women of Kansas were granted political liberty. Our hearts are beating high with victory, and no suffragist can remain unmoved by the tide of enthusiasm which will fill this triumphant convention. It will be a jubilee, and a compensation for the hard, dull work of the campaign year. Come and rejoice with us over the great victory, and listening to your fellow-workers get inspiration to carry on this mortal struggle until every state is free. Come and help us solve the problems confronting this convention,—interesting, stimulating problems coincident with the change in the political statue of women.

The program which is being arranged will be exceedingly interesting and helpful. One unique feature is that the first evening's program will be under the auspices of the Men's League. Some of the most prominent men of the state will address the Convention.

Plans have been made to provide entertainment for all delegates who will accept the hospitality of lodging and breakfast. Mrs. Mary O. Griffin, 645 Connecticut St., Lawrence, is chairman of hospitality and will make arrangements for you in homes, boarding houses or hotels as you prefer. Write to her soon. Lawrence invites you to come.

Lucy B. Johnston, Stella H. Stubbs, Cora W. Bullard, Helen N. Facker, Ella M. Evans, Sarah A. Thurston, Sallie Lindsay White.

Found a Cure for Rheumatism.

"I suffered with rheumatism for two years and could not get my right hand to my mouth for that length of time," writes Lee L. Chapman, Mapleton, Iowa. "I suffered terrible pain so I could not sleep or lie still at night. Five years ago I began using Chamberlain's Liniment and in two months I was well and have not suffered with rheumatism since." DICTAGRAMS

The worms killed a good many of our shade trees last summer. Hoping for better fortune next season, let us spray.

The common people are coming in to their own—recognized by the plutocrats of populist times, the "big interests" of these progressive days. J. P. Morgan & Co., recently sent out a very nicely printed letter to some very ordinary plug citizens, and it was worth reading, too.

Very few things worth having can be had for nothing. Those who dance must pay the fiddler. You can't eat your cake and keep it, too. If you have public improvements you must expect to pay taxes.

Warm weather comes on apace and the princes of Takahiko will soon be hitting the trail.

Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft are now in the same class—both ex-presidents and both private citizens. Of the two, it is probable that the former will attract the greater attention for some time to come, because of the natural difference in them and not because of greater achievement, but only after the lapse of years will the people be able to see them in their true perspective. The latter will loom larger as time goes on, the first is full-orbed and may wane. However that may be, it is certain that he will be remembered as the man who turned his back on his friend—the man that did more than any other to make his administration a success, and this fact is becoming more and more apparent every day.

MARKET REPORT

Kansas City Stock Yards, Tuesday, April 22, 1913. Cattle sold steady to 10 higher here yesterday, and the market is steady to-day. Heavy fed steers sell with least action, cows and heifers sell best this week, and stock cattle and feeders are unchanged from last week. Receipts have been fairly liberal, 11,000 here yesterday, and 10,000 to-day. More stock cattle have been included, and fewer fed steers, a more desirable distribution than last week, from the sellers standpoint, which has helped to make the satisfactory market. Native steers sold up to $8.70, both yesterday and to-day, sugar millsteers $7.90 to $9.40, and quarantine steers $6.70 to $8.15. Cows and heifers have regained most of their loss of late last week, native cows selling largely at $6.25 to $7.25, bulk of the native heifers at $7.00 to $8.00, tops $8.50, bulls $6.50 to $7.25, veal calves $8.00 to $9.50. The crop of cake and grass steers in north Texas is efficient this year, and outside of the rather large supply of distillery cattle pressing on the market at Chicago and eastern points, the outlook is satisfactory to feeders. Nebraska has a good many cattle to run yet, and the sugar mills have not shipped very heavily so far, conditions that will keep cattle supplies here at respectable proportions this month and next, without being burdensome. Some heavy feeders are going into feed lots from here, at $7.75 to $8.25, and desirable stock steers move freely at $7.75 to $8.15. Demand for breed cows and heifers exceeds the supply, indicating that the desire to get into cattle raising is widespread. Five cars of that kind went to South Dakota from here last week.

Hogs are 10 lower to-day, following a 5 cent decline yesterday, tops $8.35 to-day, bulk of sales $8.05 to $8.80, receipts 15000 head. Range of sales is narrower than a week ago, light weights having lost a part of their premium. Average weight here last week was 218 pounds, 13 pounds heavier than the same week last year. Receipts here so far this month are slightly greater than during some days last April.

The sheep and lamb market has again surprised everybody this week, ruling 10 higher yesterday, and 10 to 20 higher to-day, when lower prices seem to threaten. Receipts are light, 10,000 head yesterday and 7000 to-day. Texas furnished wethers yesterday at $6.15, and to-day at $6.30, weighing 100 pounds, of the clipped variety. Texas goats sell at $4.50 and $4.60 this week to killers. Colorado fed stock is being astute marketed, lambs from there selling to-day at $8.50 to $8.80, yearlings $7.50, ewes $6.70.

English--German Play

In High School Auditorium Tuesday evening April 29, 1913. 8:15 O'clock.

The "Obstinate Family" is a farce in one act. The motive of action is a very natural one. Two servants Lucy and James get into a quarrel because Lucy will not do as James requests by repeating the words. "Thank goodness the table is spread."

The master hears and after telling his wife the story jokingly asks her to say the same words. She becomes angry and refuses. Then they repeat the quarrel. Later the father and mother-in-law come and they too become involved in the family trouble. In the end they all say the words and the clouds are cleared away.

Memorial Day.

Almost a half century has passed since the beautiful custom of strewing flowers on the graves of our departed comrades was first inaugurated and May 30 designated as Memorial Day. It is a day that should be religiously observed by every lover of liberty wherever the flag floats.

It is not a Memorial Day for the old veteran soldiers alone, but a day for every patriotic man, woman or child in this great republic who loves his country and loves the old flag and honors its defenders. It is a day for patriots and a day for eulogies; a day for sweet memories and a day for sad thoughts. It is a funeral day for the nation's defenders. It is the one day above all others when every patriotic soul that breathes should lay aside all business cares and the mad pursuit of pleasure, and pay homage to the nation's dead.

The time has come, and is here now, when the sons and daughters of veterans and every liberty loving American citizens who love their country and love the old flag should on Memorial Day come with beautiful flowers, and with loving hearts and with tender care take the grizzled old veteran by the hand and lead this last remnant of the rear guard of the once greatest army that ever trod the earth to the graves of their old comrades and there drop a lily or a tear, a rose, or a forget-me-not. And it would be well to erect a cenotaph and wreath it with garlands of beautiful flowers in sacred memory of those who sleep in unknown and unmarked graves, where no flag ever floats, or tears are ever shed or kind words are ever spoken, but alone and unknown, under the stars they sleep, awaiting the resurrection day.

All flags should be at half mast on this sacred day. Conveyances should be provided for the old crippled comrades who desire to participate in Memorial services. (Signed) J. N. Harrison, Commander, Department of Kansas.

Is Not Public Property.

Records furnished the county clerks and county attorneys by express companies and other common carriers under the provisions of the Mahin law, cannot be inspected by an inquisitive public, according to a lengthy letter sent to the county attorneys by Attorney General John S. Dawson. In his letter, Dawson declares that he believes the Mahin act will bear court inspection regardless of the constitutionality of the Webb bill, passed by congress over the veto of President Taft, and which provides that shipments of liquors into dry states shall be subject to seizure by law enforcement officials.

Dawson especially warns the Kansas county attorneys against permitting the public to inspect the records of liquor shipments furnished to county attorneys. Such procedure he declares, would conflict with the federal law and tend to invalidate the operation of the Mahin bill. In its general provisions, Dawson believes that the new Kansas liquor law will withstand the tests in the courts and will enable the public prosecutors to secure much valuable information concerning the violations of the law.

The Mahin act becomes a law upon its publication in the statute books. As the 1913 session laws will be issued in record time this year, it is probable that the new liquor law will go into effect early in May.—Ex

Pains in the Stomach.

If you continually complain of pains in the stomach, your liver or your kidneys are out of order. Neglect may lead to dropsy, kidney trouble, diabetes or bright's disease. Thousands recommend Electric Bitters as the very best stomach and kidney medicine made. H. T. Alsou, of Raleigh, N. C., who suffered with pain in the stomach and back, writes: "My kidneys were deranged and my liver did not work right. I suffered much, but Electric Bitters was recommended and I improved from the first dose. I now feel like a new man." It will improve you, too. Only 50c and $1.00. Recommended by W. W. Gibson.—adv.

As Long As the Wires Were Working.

"As long as the wires were working" the telephone girls at the Omaha exchanges stood by their posts. The winds smashed the windows, splintered glass fell in a shower, death rode the storm. The circumstances were terrifying enough to try the stoutest hearts. But no man, however brave, could have acquitted himself more finely than those Omaha telephone girls, staying at their desks answering calls, making connections, giving out such information as they could until the deadened wires rendered further effort useless. The Dayton flood tells the same story. It was a telephone girl that first flashed the news of that disaster to Phoneton, where another operator relayed it to Governor Cox of Ohio. Walls of water swirled about both buildings and tales of horror poured into the ears of those telephone girls from agonized lips. And they stayed at their posts "as long as the wires were working."

The Titanic's wreck gave the world a splendid picture of the age's chivalry—"Women and children first." But that was the valor of man, justifying his manhood to meeting the highest expectations of the world's belief. We do not look for women to meet the supreme test of physical courage. We do not charge such traditions to her sex. But some women meet them, just the same. The telephone girls at Omaha and Dayton are sisters, in stern and loveliest truth, to the men who by death and steadfastness have bequeathed the legacy of heroism.—Ellinwood Leader.

NOTICE.

The county Board of Equalization will meet on the third Monday in May, the 18th, and be in session ten days. If you do not appear before the board at that meeting and present your grievance you will not thereafter have the opportunity to be heard in relation to the same so far as excessive valuation's are concerned.

Cough Medicine for Children.

Too much care cannot be used in selecting a cough medicine for children. It should be pleasant to take, contain no harmful substance and be most effectual. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets these requirements and is a favorite with the mothers of young children everywhere. For sale by all dealers.—adv
